Introduction

This community journal has been designed so that you can record important information about your Stepping Stones sessions.

At the front of this journal you will find an ‘attendance record’. Please ensure that you sign everyone in before each session begins and place a tick (√) in the appropriate session column.

This journal provides a space for you to fill out simple information about each Stepping Stones session and peer group meeting. It is very important that you complete a journal entry immediately after each session so that you don’t forget any important information.

Look back over the information that you have recorded after each session. It can be very useful to help you improve your facilitation skills for future sessions.

Please look after this journal; it will be collected at the end of your Stepping Stones program. The information you collect will tell us a lot about what changes Stepping Stones may have made to your community.
Before you start your first Stepping Stones session, write all participant names in the “name” column. From then on, place a tick (✓) or cross (x) in the relevant session column before you begin. Each participant should only have their name written once for the entire program. If a new participant joins, add their name to the attendance record sheet and place a tick (✓) or cross (x) in the appropriate session when they commence the program.

That was a big session. Talking about images of sex and sexual health in your community can be really hard. Hopefully by now your peer group is feeling safe with each other. Make sure you spend some time before the next session talking with members from your peer group. Keep encouraging and motivating them to continue with the sessions. It is really going to get interesting from now on!

Some participants may have talked about some sensitive and personal issues in this session. If you notice that this session was difficult for someone make sure you check up on them during the days after your peer group meeting.

In your next session you will be exploring ideas of sexuality further. Make sure you go through your manual before the session to make sure you are comfortable with the information.

Congratulations, you've finished session E. Your next session will be your first peer group meeting. This is the first time all peer groups will be meeting and presenting to each other. Some participants, (especially the women or younger peer groups) may feel uncomfortable with this, encourage your peer group to support each other during this meeting. It is important that everyone feels safe to contribute their thoughts and ideas.
First Meeting of Peer Groups

Purpose: To enable all members of the peer groups to meet together and share some ideas

Time Needed: 2 hours

Materials needed: Butchers paper from session B

What were the main points discussed during the second peer group meeting?

Did all peer groups get the opportunity to talk and contribute? If no, which peer group did not talk or contribute?

Did you think the first peer group meeting went well? Do you have any general comments?

You are now almost halfway through your Stepping Stones program! Has there been a drop-out of participants? Are you using your attendance record every time you hold a peer group meeting? Look back over the attendance record; are there any participants who have missed a few sessions? If there is, you should try to find out why? Do they need your help to make sure they can attend the sessions? Remember, everyone in the peer group supports each other!

Your next session is about HIV. While you and your participants may not know anyone with HIV remember there is a lot of fear, stigma and discrimination about the virus. It is your job as a Stepping Stones facilitator to try and change this! Make sure you read over the notes on HIV at the back of your manual and discuss issues with the other facilitators and support staff if you aren't comfortable with any of the information. Remember, the only way you can be sure of your HIV status is to have an HIV blood test.

The next session will be on safer sex and your participants will get the opportunity to practice putting on a condom. Make sure you have enough condoms for each participant to practice with. The best things to practice with are bananas or cucumbers. If you don’t have enough condoms go to your local health clinic. Tell them about stepping stones and they should provide you with enough free condoms.

Feedback given by participants after session:

Are there any issues you need to follow-up on or questions you need to find answers for? What are these issues?
Your next session is the second meeting of peer groups. Make sure you meet with the other facilitators before this session. Peer groups will be presenting their role plays on teenage pregnancy, supporting pregnant women and condom negotiation. This may be very different for some peer groups. Perhaps encourage your peer group to practice throughout the week so they feel prepared for the meeting.

Remember: A good facilitator uses questions rather than statements to get responses from their participants!
Second Meeting of Peer Groups

Purpose: To enable all members of the peer groups to meet together and share some ideas

Time Needed: 2 hours

Materials needed: Condoms for role play (if required)

What were the main points discussed during the second peer group meeting?

Did all peer groups get the opportunity to talk and contribute? If no, which peer group did not talk or contribute?

The next session on gender violence is a sensitive session. Remember, you are not a counselor. The peer groups are only safe places where people can talk about issues that may be affecting them. Make sure you have some information for the next session about where people can go if they are experiencing violence in their homes or relationships. There is a list of numbers and places to go from all around the Pacific on page 218 of your SS manual.

Great work, you're doing really well. Make sure you get the opportunity to debrief with your other SS facilitators. Remember, debriefing doesn't mean you can share information about other people, it is only an opportunity to discuss how you are feeling and how you think the sessions are going.

In the next session you will be discussing communication skills and “I statements”. It would be a good idea to make sure you are using these skills yourself. Practice using “I statements” with your friends and family before the next session. Remember Stepping Stones facilitators need to lead by example.

Are you starting to see some changes in your group or community as a result of Stepping Stones? Make sure you are documenting any changes in your facilitator journal. This is very important information to record and keep safe. Remember your journals will be collected upon completion of stepping stones in your community.

That was a big session, but a very important one. You’re almost there! Now it’s time to prepare for the future! In this session peer groups will be practicing their debate on their special request to the whole community. Tell participants to start thinking about what kind of special request they might like to ask their community for.

A big Stepping Stone clap to you! You’ve finished your final session. Your next meeting will be your final open community meeting. Make sure you meet with your other facilitators before this session. All of you should ask respected and powerful members of your community to attend the final open community meeting. It is important that they are present for each peer group’s request.
Please make sure you document each peer groups final request. We need to know this in order to see if your community implements the request after Stepping Stones.
